BLOOD STAINED CRIMES

Capture of "Bud" Alias Jasper

Rhodes, Wife-Murderer.

The Perpetual Murder Mystery—Killed at a Dance—Death-Defied Confession —Killing and Lynching—Record of Other Murders.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 28.—"Bud," alias Jasper Rhodes, who shot and towie-knife his wife, a beautiful Octonora, was captured last evening at the east end of the island near the beach. The murder was committed last Tuesday night. According to Rhodes' confession, immediately after the bloody deed he started to find the man whom he charged was his wife's seducer. Failing to find his victim and lured by a horrible fascination, he revisited the scene of his crime, from an adjoining yard witnessed the Coroner's examination of the body. Thence he took refuge under an overturned boat where he had remained ever since without sitting down by hunger he contemplated robbing a dwelling in the vicinity and was in the act when he was arrested by the police. Rhodes was armed with the pistol with which he shot his woman. From a letter found on his person, he evidently contemplated suicide. Rhodes exonerates Sam Wilson, who is charged with being an accessory. Rhodes' confession was sealed by his capture. Crowds followed the prisoner through the street and surrounded the jail, but made no demonstration toward lynching him. Rhodes is a prominent member of the United Brethren in Friendship, a colored order which is very strong in this city and State, and which, it is said, will do all in its power to save him from the gallows.

Unraveling the Perpetual Murder.

OKLAHOMA, Oct. 28.—Sheriff Zibbell, of Nance County, was in the city yesterday on his way to Mississippi after a man supposed to be George Farnival, charged with the murder of Harry Farnival, wife, and child, and Messrs. Band and Mair, in Nance County a few weeks ago. Zibbell, who was very close mouthed, would not state to what part of Mississippi he was going, nor would he say whether the suspected person was in custody or being shadowed. He has received several telegrams from some point in Mississippi about a man and seemed to feel rather confident that the suspect is none other than Farnival. Sheriff Zibbell, who is from Okmulgee, yesterday afternoon, took with him a regulation to the Governor of Mississippi for Farnival, and this looks as though the right man has been traced to his hiding place.

During the past week some new developments have been made in the mystery, among which is the discovery that Mrs. Farnival's undelivered letter to a chemist, which was found secreted in a corner of the house, was cut with a knife across the breast and the letter was found in the hands of Mrs. Farnival's wife. Sheriff Zibbell intimates that others beside Farnival are suspected of being implicated in the affair or knowing something about it. Detectives are still at work endeavoring to unravel the mystery.

Killed at a Dance.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 28.—A bloody tragedy was enacted at a late hour last night at Martin's Ferry, just opposite this city. A man in a frock coat, and a woman, who was identified by the police as Sunday, Ben Braden, a notorious rough, and George Blentch, an old grudge, and each claimed the hand of a girl named Mary. A quarrel, instigated by the old feud, was begun, and Blentch took the girl, and threw herself between them. Braden drew a huge knife, and reaching over the girl, made a lung at his opponent, inflicting a fatal wound. Blentch fell, and Braden, throwing the trembling girl aside, raised his revolver, and fired, and the dying man was borne out. Two officers saw the affair, but did not venture to intrude, even when the murder was being committed. The girl and began a waltz. For two hours he danced, and then quietly walked out, came to his city and home. Next morning in the morning Blentch had died, and the police are now looking for the murderer.

A Murderer's Death-Defied Confession.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 28.—The sequel to the cold-blooded and mysterious murder four years ago of John Denn, a wealthy wholesaler, dealer in hardware, has just come to light. He was accustomed to carry on his person large sums of money. He was one day found in a cellar, beneath his store with his skull crushed in from a blow with a hammer, and his pockets turned inside out. No clue was discovered to the murder. Information has been received today to the effect that John Breckney, formerly keeper of a dance house in Helena and Butte, and who is in the office of the Santa Fe Railroad at East Helena, was arrested Saturday charged with complicity in the murder of Jack L. King, which occurred in Mason County, Kentucky, three years ago. The prisoner was confined in our city prison until yesterday afternoon, when he left for Kentucky in charge of a Deputy Sheriff. He says he is innocent of the crime, and did not know the murderer, but admits an acquaintance with J. E. Morley, who is jointly charged with him in the recent case. It is about twenty years old, and has borne an excellent reputation since his residence here.

A Killing Followed by a Lynching.

YANKTON, Dak., Oct. 28.—At St. Helena, Nebraska, twelve miles from here, John Phillips, Postmaster and Deputy Sheriff of Cedar County, went into the country to arrest a man charged with incendiarism. The man refused and ran, and Phillips overtook him, when he was shot by the deputy. The man was fatally wounded, and another, who had come to the Sheriff's aid, was also wounded.

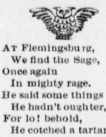

CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS

Are Favored by an Epistle from John A. Logan.

Who Proceeds to Give Them His Views on the Opposing Factions of the South—General Logan's Still on the Wing.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Following is a copy of the letter sent by General Logan in reply to an invitation of the Confederate soldiers of Rockingham, Virginia, to address them: "To Captain John H. Robinson, Harrisburg, Va. "MY DEAR SIR:—Your letter enclosing petition containing over 500 names of Confederate soldiers residing in your locality, requesting me to deliver an address at your place on the political issue now presented to the citizens of this Republic for their decision, is received. I regret exceedingly that my engagements are such that I cannot comply with their request, but in a kind and generous manner as this has been. It seems to me that the people of the South are willing to lay aside their former prejudices and move forward in the direction of a protective tariff, and to develop the great mine of wealth that lies buried beneath their soil should adopt the same policy. It is the growth and development of the various industries that your country is well adapted to. The people of the South by adopting this policy, will move forward to great results in the future. Those who are so prejudiced that they cannot think or speak of anything but the misfortunes of the past and who refuse to assist in adopting any policy that will bring about the betterment of their country, will, perhaps, continue to cling to their prejudices. Let the march of the progressive people of your country pass them by the wayside and move forward in the direction of great results for the future. ROSSER & MCCARTHY, PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.
TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS.

At Flemingsburg,
We find the Sage,
One again
In mighty rage.
He said some things
He hadn't oughter,
For I beheld,
He cooled a tartar.

This is a bad year for Sages.
See that you vote as early as possible next Tuesday.

Good apples were sold in Mayville recently for one dollar a barrel. Picked ones, however, command a higher price.

ESTHER M. F. MAST is wearing today a button-hole bouquet composed of strawberries, in opposition to George Gill.

In the debate at Flemingsburg yesterday, it is said that General Williams actually wiped the earth with Mr. Wadsworth.

Mr. Beck thinks the Mayville band is the best he has ever heard. He expressed that opinion while in this city recently.

THE Democratic majority in this county, at the Presidential election in 1880, was 700. Let the Democrats see that it is not reduced next week.

Is the Eagle furnishing the brains for the New Republican, or is the New Republican furnishing them for the Eagle?
At present it seems a little mixed.

THE Democrats have secured the court house for next Saturday evening. Hon.
Pat. McGroarty, of Georgetown, Ohio, and other well-known Democrats will speak.

THERE is a great deal of complaint in Mayville about the bad quality of gas.
We are informed that the company is doing everything possible to make it more satisfactory, and hope very soon to overcome the present difficulty.

It is a little late for strawberries, but nevertheless the BULLETIN received a small supply this morning, through the kindness of Mr. William Bateman, of this county. They were grown from seed planted this spring and are of very fine flavor.

Democratic Pole Raising.

The Democracy of the Burtonville neighborhood will raise with appropriate ceremonies, the tallest pole in the county, on Saturday afternoon, at one o'clock.
Hon. E. C. Phister and other Democrats will address the assemblage.

The Buffalo Bill Wild West Combination will certainly exhibit at the fair grounds next Monday afternoon, November 3rd, at half-past two o'clock in the afternoon. The company will arrive without fail and will give an exhibition well worth seeing. Don't fail to attend.

MR. WADSWORTH said in his speech last Saturday evening that "he did not seek the nomination, but had himself been sought by both parties." That is unadulterated richness. The idea that the Democracy have been spoiling for a Republican to represent them in Congress is simply ridiculous. Somebody has been making jokes on the Sugar Loaf Sage.

MR. GEORGE R. GILL has been invited to speak at Ripley, on Wednesday night, at Dover, Thursday night, Murphysville, Saturday afternoon, and at Augusta, Saturday night, but owing to professional business he has been obliged to decline the appointment at Ripley. He cannot, at present, answer certainly as to the other places, but will fill as many of the appointments as he can.

MESSRS. C. B. CHAMBERLAIN and J. A.
Ruth, well-known musical composers, of Cincinnati, are in the city introducing Groene's Musical Magazine, a monthly publication containing the latest vocal and instrumental compositions. The price of the magazine is $1.50, which is considerably less than the price of the music alone. It is a work that ought to have a wide circulation among musically inclined people.

We hear it from a reliable source that the Republicans have agents in every precinct in the county who are now at work polling the vote. The Democratic clubs should immediately rally opposition and challenging committees composed of the best men who should go to work instantly and provide for the casting of every Democratic vote. Take nothing for granted, see to it personally that every man does the duty his party friends expect of him. Every vote will be needed. The Republicans must not under any circumstances be permitted to carry this county or even to cut down the Democratic vote. Radicalism must be crushed out of the district for the next twenty years to come.

The editor of the Mt. Olivet Tribune, who was in Mayville recently, writes as follows: "The hum of the mechanic is heard on every street; improvements are being made, and large and handsome buildings erected. In fact, Mayville is arousing from a deep slumber, as it were, and assuming metropolitan proportions.
It has wealthy banks, water works, gas works, street cars, ice factory, tobacco factories, elevators, large warehouses for the sale of lumber; turpentine, telegraph and telephone stretching out in every direction, besides cotton mills, plow factories, planing mills, the best flouring mills (except, possibly, those at Minneapolis) in the Union. Other important industries and branches of business could be enumerated, but space forbids. Coupled with these, the town has a wide-awake, a progressive, a pushing, business population that has no superior and but few equals."

KELLY SLOAN, who was convicted of murder at the present term of the Circuit Court, and sent to the penitentiary for life, is the oldest son of a notorious family of that name who were lately ordered to leave Lexington by the authorities.
The father, George Sloan, is now in jail at Mt. Sterling for cattle stealing. The mother and three younger children are now in Montgomery County, but the oldest daughter is still at Lexington.

WILLIAM SLAM, the victim, was the oldest son of a widow who came to Lexington from one of the mountain counties, about a year ago. She has two other children, younger sons, and the family is very poor. The murdered boy was addicted to drinking and got into the company of the Sloans at Lexington.

THE New Republican, in referring to the cannon firing from Sugar Loaf Hill, says: "The cannon was fired in token of the general rejoicing at the glorious victory in Ohio." And yet Mr.
Wadsworth in his speech Saturday night, considered it necessary to explain that he was not responsible for this cannonading over the Ohio victory for the Republicans, leaving it to be inferred that he was ashamed of it. That is a nut for the Republicans to crack. Sages are the hardest people in the world to hold down to their beliefs.

MR. WADSWORTH in his well Saturday night complained that the Democrats had brought speakers into the district from all parts of the State to hound him down.
Will the Sugar Loaf Sage kindly explain why William O. Bradley was brought here and kept from Thursday until Saturday night to back him up in his speech and afterwards to accompany him to Flemingsburg to help him through in his debate with General Williams.

Mr. D. C. Corlett Tuesday morning to at-

Our community was caused to mourn again by the death of the little daughter of A. P.
Bartlett, of Flemingsburg. Her corpse was interred in the cemetery at that place on Thursday afternoon.
D. L. Dobson, of whose illness we spoke in our last communication, died Wednesday evening, October 27th, at his residence in this city. He was 60 years of age. He was a member of the church. He was a kind man, and his death is a great loss to his family. We mourn our loss, but we are glad that our loss is an everlasting gain.

Sardis.
Mr. Natta Salt's ninety sheep in Cincinnati last week.
Miss Mollie Fitzpatrick has returned and resumed business at the old stand.
Paris Wheeler has gone into the hotel business with Mr. Symonds, at Newark, Ohio.
Mr. John Kirk, of Washington, with her model twin babies, is visiting the old folks at home.
Mr. Elias Collins was seriously burned, her clothes taking fire from the grate, last Wednesday.
Mr. Robert Applegate has removed to Hillsboro, Fleming County, and will soon be followed by his family to that point.
Mr. Powell Owens, of Fern Leaf, is a welcome visitor in our town and added much to the vivacity of our Oyster Festival celebration.

Miss Ella King, sister of Mrs. Bettie Sykes, was the belle of Friday night's dance, and attracted much admiration by her tasteful toilet and modest bearing.
The musical combinations at the oyster festival on Cleveland, corner, violin, and French horns and cornet, and last, but not least, a full orchestra, were heard.
Rev. J. N. Carpenter has surrendered his relations with the Kentucky Conference, M. E.
Church, South, and has located in Warsaw, and opened a select school with twenty-five pupils.
The wintry weather struck this locality Thursday night, cutting, but not hoisting, all the vicious left out freezing potatoes, but not buried, and preparing the standing corn for the crib. The frost was not so severe as abundant. A good rain would greatly benefit the corn, which is now maturing in the ground.
Your local correspondents seem to have poised their quills and gone into retirement.
What has become of "Crocket," of "Kaleidoscope," and "Charles Mason left home," but we know he has been seriously ill, but is now recovered, and will be able to write for us.
He is a good old fashioned letter, filled with news from a home absent and esteemed friend.

How much you missed by not being at the Oyster Festival on the evenings of Friday and Saturday last. The new wharf lights have been burned out, when the sweet tones of music have died away, when the glitter and the dance have been faded from view and the sweet and lovely girls have been scattered to the winds. The judgment of the moment is a striking one. It is a thing to praise and nothing to criticize. Ever detailed was the young man, who got up and put through these splendid entertainments, and we, as they receive, the congratulations of all.

TIED OF LIFE.

William Henry Ends His Earthly and Financial Troubles.
St. Louis, Oct. 28.—Officer Hickman discovered the dead body of a man lying in a crotch near the west side of Hickman Park, with a bullet hole in the right temple. In his hand was found a 38-caliber revolver, with one chamber empty. The corpse was identified as that of William Henry, a superior, forty-one years of age, whose wife and four children live in a small grove between Hickman Street and Prairie Avenue.
He had been missing for a few days, and the body was found on the morning of the 26th.
He was found in a crotch near the west side of his late home, and the Coroner was sent to inquire. Financial and other troubles are supposed to have been the cause of the act. The following notes to his wife and children were found in a memorandum book in his pocket:
"MY DEAR WIFE MARY: I am alone and in despair. I would like to have lived and visited my little John, but my trouble is too great. My mind is affected. I have to rest here but I have hope for the future.
You must excuse me for all I have done on earth. I have no more to say. I have to rest here but I have hope for the future.

THE NEWS FROM LONDON

The Liberals' Conspiracy of Silence on the Franchise Bill.

Both Sides Conquering for the Irish Vote—A Remarkable Scene in the Commons—Egypt—The Congo, Etc., Etc.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The opening of the Parliamentary session has thrown little light on the political situation. The Franchise Bill will go rapidly through the Commons, the Liberals having entered into a conspiracy of silence, and there being no sign of opposition on the part of the Tories, the recent Conservative declarations conceding the justice of an extension of the franchise, materially clear the ground. The real difficulties will be developed when the bill reaches the House of Lords. Already there are indications of Lord Salisbury's methods. It is asserted that he will not oppose the second reading, but will postpone the committee stage for a prolonged period in order to allow time for the progress of a Redistribution bill in the Commons. He ignores Mr. Gladstone's renewed declaration that the franchise and redistribution cannot be taken together, and seeks to put the onus of delaying reform on the Government.

BIDDING FOR IRISH SUPPORT.
Meanwhile a sort of contest prevails between the two great parties in the Commons for the Irish vote. At the second reading of the Franchise Bill, notwithstanding the fact that ill-health is the real cause of Mr. Trevelyan's resignation—he has grown quite gray in two years—his departure at the present moment is largely interpreted as a concession to the Parnellite demand for his dismissal. On the other hand Opposition skirmishers, notably Mr. Gorst and Lord Randolph Churchill, are woeing the Irish party by supporting the claim for another inquiry of the Manxstrass murder. If this be granted it is expected that Lord Spencer will resign. Englishmen argue that the unscrupulousness of this alliance of the Tory side is proved by the simple fact admitted by the Tory peers that Lord Spencer is the only man that stands between them and the Nationalist faction, and that but for his extraordinary courage and firmness agrarian agitation would have been prolonged and rendered infinitely more disastrous to the landlord class. Englishmen will be exceedingly angry if the Ministers yield the last demand, inasmuch as it is interpreted into the scale against the investigation conducted by Lord Spencer. Mr. Trevelyan, two Irish judges and other able lawyers, the uncorroborated testimony of Casey.

PARLIAMENTARY ANTIMISERIES.
Last night's scene in the Commons was one of the most humorous and remarkable the country has had for years. It was the Birmingham riots and Mr. Chamberlain's bellicose comments on Lord Randolph Churchill.

On Thursday the fourth party endeavored to draw Lord Randolph Churchill. Sir H. D. Wolff began by insinuating his direct complicity in the riots, hoping that Mr. Chamberlain would reply and give Lord Randolph Churchill an opportunity for falling upon him, and so having the last word. Mr. Chamberlain, however, discovered the plot and declined to speak. Last night the tactics were resumed in a different fashion. Mr. Chamberlain asked if his Welsh justification of riots was correct. He answered by citing Lord Randolph Churchill's Edinburgh speech, saying he would not concede frame till the workmen resorted to violence. As the row proceeded Mr. Chamberlain alluded to Sir H. D. Wolff's remarks on Thursday as Jackal to Lord Randolph Churchill. Thereupon there was a fearful scene. Lord Randolph Churchill demanded the withdrawal of the remark. Sir Stafford Northcote intervened to support him. The Speaker mildly hoped that the word "Jackal" was only figurative, and amidst the roars of the House Mr. Chamberlain unctiously explained that such was the case, inasmuch as he meant it in the same way in which Sir Stafford Northcote lately described Lord Randolph Churchill as hornet to the Government.

BUSINESS OF THE SESSION.
Among the debates of the session will be an important discussion of Egyptian matters arising from the demand for further money for the Sudan expedition. South African affairs also afford matter for debate. The Tories in both Houses will move in the interest of fair trade for the appointment of a committee to examine into the state of commerce and industry. With regard to South Africa, the disposition of the Government to allow the Cape Ministry, which is influenced by the Dutch, to arrange the Transvaal difficulty, where they sympathize with the aggressors, is condemned. Otherwise Lord Derby's statement that the London Convention is to be maintained and the Zulu republic kept unbroken are regarded as a distinct advance, and take much heart out of the debates.

EGYPTIAN QUESTIONS.
Lord Northbrook is returning from Egypt a week earlier than he intended, in order to push forward the financial settlement. The failure of a large commercial house in Egypt has accentuated the necessity for an early payment of the Alexandrian indemnity to which the Government is committed. Lord Northbrook speaks hopefully of an early financial arrangement with the Powers.

THE CONGO CONFERENCE.
The delay in the British acceptance of the Congo Conference arose from Lord Granville's insisting that all occupied parts of West Africa should be excluded from the action of the Powers, and that General Hewitt's recent Niger annexation should not be prejudiced. If anybody suffers through the Conference it will apparently be the Portuguese, who have never properly occupied the districts they claim.

THE LONDON STAGE.
Certain forthcoming theatrical enterprises have interest for Americans. Miss Mary Anderson's "Juliet" is expected with much curiosity. Lewis Wingfield's preparations are on a great scale and have cost $25,000. Hugh Conway's drama "Dark Days," being a dramatized version of an unpublished novel, has been performed at the Prince's Theatre to save the author's rights.

Stewart's Fate Verified.
CAIRO, Oct. 28.—The Mudir of Dongola reports that a messenger sent by him to inquire into the fate of Colonel Stewart's party has returned. He saw one of two natives who were sole survivors of the massacre and was told that all the rest of the forty-five persons on board the vessel which was run on the rocks were massacred, including Colonel Stewart and the foreign consuls who accompanied him.
